CRAB ORCHARD.

—J. S. Edmiston has returned from Paducah.

—Prof. S. D. Magee's school at Turkey Town closed last week with a big treat.

—We are informed that Messrs. McClure & Napier will start a roller mill at this place.

—Miss Annie Sigler went home with her brother to Indiana. W. A. Carson has returned from Louisville.

—There were 34 prohibition votes cast in this precinct, 23 of whom believe in witchery, and the whole lot believe that the sun moves and the earth stands still.

—Our old townsmen, Col. Jesse Clas- teen, was in town last Saturday and is talking of moving his family back here. We give him a cordial invitation and assure him that he will be welcomed by all.

—The G. A. R.'s organized some time since at this place, and we are informed by a preacher, who is one of the members, at the second meeting that they held they had taken on so much "red-eye" that they could not transact business, and have never had a quorum since.

—Mrs. Malinda Tapp has declined moving to Rowland and will remain here, to the delight of many friends. Old man Erve Delaney, who came from Texas to this place to get into the poorhouse, has received a pension and will return to Texas. Bill Ballard, the celebrated bugle maker, has returned from Illinois.

—One of D. G. Slaughter's clerks sold a pair of boots, price $2.50, for $1.75, but the colonel held him responsible for the mistake and made him fork over the difference, which was 75 cents. This is the same young man who clerked for Henry Fish and sold a large pile of hams for shoulders. The same clerk would not sell two balls of broom twine, but kept one ball so as to keep in stock.

—Several convicts passed thru' town the other day and one poor fellow with a broken heart and bleeding feet fell by the wayside and was captured by four gallant young men, viz: Willie Pettus, Walter Beazley, Sam and Joe Magee, but the crowd wasn't able to give him his supper and the poor fellow received his liberty. Since this capture they have all applied for positions on Pinkerton's detective force.

—The opponents to the graded school have declined the idea of bringing suit to set the election aside. At the time of the election we were opposed to the school, but since the tax has been voted and we are among the heaviest tax-payers, we are now in favor of building a nice brick building that will be an ornament to the town, and not in favor of buying that old God forsaken, dilapidated college building, that has no foundation and is liable to fall at any time upon our children.

—The egg market is attracting more attention here than anything else. Col. Slaughter began the boom by hanging out his sign that he would pay 18 cents per dozen for them. Soon other merchants hung out the same sign; then Slaughter raised to 20 and the other merchants raised to 22 cents. To every one's surprise the following sign appeared: "Ha! Ha! Change your signs! 30 cts. for eggs in cash!" G. C. Dunigan. But when Col. Slaughter took his 300 dozen around to him, Dunigan informed him that he meant goose eggs.

Good Boys and Girls.

Following are the names of pupils of Crab Orchard School, who are 90 percent and over in deportment and attendance for the month ending Nov. 6, '91: David Holdam 98; Maurice Perkins 95; Henry Bastin 98; Jos Bailey 90; Andrew Dillon 93; George DeBorde 95; Willie White 97; Samuel Pryor 95; Carpenter Stuart 95; Andrew Buchanan 95; Albert Newland 95; Phil Pettus 97; Martha Holman 95; Susie Higgins 95; Annie Bronaugh 96; Bessie Magee 92; Ada Govert 95; Josie Stephens 91; Lizzie Beazley 94; Alice Moore 95; Hannah McFall 92; Nannie Edmiston 98; Lockie Dillon 94; George Bronaugh 99; John DeBorde 96; Henry DeBorde 95; Joe Payne 93; Roscoe Perkins 92; James Payne 91; Jeff Holman 90; Beulah Carson 97; Susie Dillon 96; Eva Bailey 98; Annie M. —Boies' majority over Wheeler, for governor of Iowa, is 8,200. The other democratic candidates elected are Bestow, Lieutenant Governor; Kinnear, Judge, and Deys, Railroad Commission, vice J. C. Mullins resigned.

HUSTONVILLE.

—The late close call Danville had by incendiaries is yet the topic and the nervous feel certain that the end is threatening.

—The wheat fields are growing beautifully since the rains and a few weeks of seasonable surroundings will put a materially different aspect on the wheat prospects of '92.

—The meetings at the Christian church continue and increase in interest. The largest audiences since the dedication of the church are in regular attendance. Mr. Sharpe is an extremely entertaining speaker.

—It was a puzzle to our side-walk population that the roller mills' water wagon continued its regular trips as late as last Friday, after the raging Fork had resumed its agitation of sand and pebbles on shallow places. Pumps out of order and pipes plugged cut off the supply of corn meal.

—Dock Shumate, jailer at Danville, was grasped by a negro prisoner last Saturday morning whilst making his rounds of the corridors. The negro, Will Hansford, twice a convict, is in a cell with bright prospects of a third term. What motive prompted him to reach through the grated door and grab the jailer is mystery, but a pistol ball which crashed through William's jaw will necessitate a nourishing liquid diet for an infinite length of time, as mastication is suspended.

—Hustonville is indebted to Waller Greening's patriotism and enterprise for her approaching telegraphic connection with the little outside world. The poles were on the ground and a number of men digging the holes for them last week. After this issue your reporter can smile at the beautiful mail arrangements between here and Stanford and with thumb tip against nose give an exultant sweep of the fingers at every north-bound mail train.

—George Woodson and Billy Turpin are not quite so cordial at their meetings now. George has considerable good corn still in the field and Billy has an enterprising cow which has a pronounced weakness for good corn, as well as no scruples about whose corn furnishes her nocturnal lunches. George got tired of getting up in quest of an early worm, and finding that cow in his corn field every morning, and finally gave warning that if measures were not taken to stop her he'd be forced to act in self-defense. About dawn next morning that cow was taken to the hospital, loaded with six charges of small shot.

—Judge Camnit's fame will probably lose him to this community. Repeated importunities induced him to go to Cincinnati last week to hear propositions, but the hope is general that the West End will continue to offer superior advantages. A. K. Shewmaker and family, pioneers of the city of Moreland, have removed to Wilmore, Jessamine county, where their son Bertram is a valued employee of the Queen & Crescent. Mr. Keene, who has long been a modest but controlling railroad attache at Moreland, has been transferred to heavier responsibilities at Junction City and every patron whose business has called him to the Station since the change agrees that Moreland has drawn a big prize in Mr. Haines, who is now "holding things down" at the depot, with Bob Myers' valuable aid. Mr. C. T. Griggs, the miller, left Friday on a brief visit to relatives West. Three of Danville's distinguished citizens—a magistrate of renown, a banker of celebrity and a valitudinarian bachelor of something less than five score and ten's wanderings—passed through our town the day after the rain with a wagon load of dogs, guns and lunch baskets, determined to clean up the birds in the suburbs of Liberty, but a careful and "judicious" beat of all the most inviting covers developed the disheartening discovery that Judge Breckinridge's forage either exterminated the supply or led to the precipitate migration to safer coverts. They will await the next census before determining the prospects of any reputed Paradise.

Little Rock is exceptionally pleasant, if not a particularly profitable place to practice law. When Judge Vaughan concluded his able plea in defense of ex-Treasurer Woodruff, the defendant's handsome 20-year-old daughter seized the eloquent attorney by the hand and exclaimed, "Oh, Judge, how can we ever repay your kindness?" implanted a resounding kiss of gratitude upon his reciprocating lips. And with a gallantry that marks him a grand old man, the Judge replied: "You have already paid me all I will ever ask." Now that is a law practice as is a law practice.

—A certain Sunday-school teacher in one of our Sunday-schools last Sunday, was greatly shocked by the following little dialogue which she had with one of her pupils of tender years:

Sunday-school Teacher—"And when the wicked children continued mocking the good prophet two she bears came out of the mountain and ate up 40 of the children." Now, boys, what does this lesson teach us?

Young Pupil—"It teaches us how many children a she bear can hold."—Pineville Messenger.

—It is a condition which confronts us—not a theory.—Annual Message, 1887.

—I have considered the pension list of the republic a roll of honor.—Veto of Dependent Pension Bill, July 1, 1888.

—Party honesty is party expediency.—Newspaper interview, Sept. 9, 1889.

—A public office is a public trust," one of his best known political maxims, is not included.

—P. R. Pennington has been appointed postmaster at Oakley, Laurel county, vice J. C. Mullins resigned.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Dr. W. H. Anderson, D. D., Kentucky Conference Sunday-School agent, will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday.

—Elder Wallace Sharpe's meeting at the Hustonville Christian church continues with increasing interest and 20 or more additions.

—Sam Small, the evangelist, was assaulted by a saloon keeper in Atlanta and roughly drubbed for recent harsh criticisms of the saloon keeper.

—The Elizabethtown News says that Rev. H. C. Morrison's meeting there resulted in 30 additions to the Methodist and a number to each of the other churches.

—After the 1st day of December the rectory of the Episcopal church will be vacant, as the rector, D. L. V. Moffett, has tendered his resignation, to take effect at that time. He will go to Sprague, Wash.—Register.

—The meeting at the Mt. Sterling Methodist Church South, closed Sunday night with 13 additions, but Rev. Joe Rand, of Lexington, went over Thursday to hold services with it over Sunday and perhaps longer.—Paris Kentuckian.

—Two new churches were dedicated at Louisville Sunday, the Westminster Presbyterian, corner First and Ormsby Avenue, which cost $50,000 and the B. street Mission of the Walnut Street Baptist church. Dr. C. R. Hemphill officiated at the former, and Dr. Kerfoot, of the Theological Seminary, at the latter.

—The Salvation Army was started 25 years ago by a Methodist preacher not in good standing with his conference, and his faithful wife. Now it has 2,900 barracks, 9,000 officers, a half million adherents and an annual revenue of $3,750,000. Its publications are in almost every language on the globe.

—The ladies of the Parsonage and Home Mission Society have presented the Methodist church with a handsome set of pulpit furniture, which has been received and placed in position. It consists of three large upholstered chairs and a walnut stand and is decidedly ornamental. God bless the women, they are always ahead in every good word and work.

—In Rev. George O. Barnes' new book, Credo and Credulity, this remarkable clause appears: "If man was made in God's likeness and image and was also male and female, it follows, logically, that God is male and female. Whether the double form of expression indicates correlation—image and likeness, male and female, I am not prepared to state, except in the most tentative manner, but Scripture and reason combine in asserting that God is male and female and the female side of the Godhead, if one may reverently use such a word, in such a connection, is ever represented by the Holy Ghost."

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stetson, of Ottawa, Kan., have not spoken to each other for 20 years on account of a quarrel. Still they live together and are apparently happy.

—Brown's Valley, Ind., is terribly agitated over the elopement of Miss Nannie Goslin, "the accomplished daughter of its wealthiest citizen," with an Indianapolis barber. By this misalliance it appears that Miss Goslin has cooked her goose so far as the society of Brown's Valley is concerned.—Post.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The front of the National Bank is being painted and the windows in the second story replaced.

—J. V. Cook and T. B. Robinson delivered 40 head of export cattle to Dick Gentry at Lancaster Saturday. Average 1,650; price 5 cents.

—On the 1st of January Mrs. M. E. Holmes will again take charge of Miller's Hotel. Ben Mason advertises the Mason Hotel for rent.

—Some Richmond parties have bought the vacant lot in the north east corner of the Public Square and will shortly erect a brick livery stable on same.

—A protracted meeting begun at the Baptist church Sunday night. The services are conducted by Rev. Booth, of Taylorsville, assisted by Rev. Stout, the pastor.

—Garrard Lodge, No. 29, Knights of Pythias, will give a banquet at the Miller Hotel next Friday night in honor of the visiting members of the Stanford Lodge. An interesting and extensive programme will be prepared for the occasion and the whole thing is to be quite a noisy thing throughout.

—Messrs. Estes and Graham, who reside near Bryantsville, were arrested and placed in jail at Lancaster, Saturday, charged with burning five stacks of wheat and a dwelling that was occupied as a residence. The trial is set for Tuesday, the 17th. There is said to be considerable excitement in the lower end of the county at the conduct of the house-burners and those who have been stretching wires across the turnpike at night, causing damages to horses, buggies and persons traveling upon the highway.

—Henry Beazley, Charley Owens and Quina Palmer, of color, were arrested and tried for shooting Bill Farris Friday the 13th. It was proven on the trial that Owens was drunk and raised a difficulty, striking Henry Beazley several times with a rock. Beazley fired at Owens, but missed him and struck Bill Farris. Owens swore that he was so drunk that he didn't know what he was doing and had no recollection whatever as to what occurred. Upon a hearing of the whole case the defendants were dismissed by Judge Robinson, and Owens was turned over to the town authorities for trial upon the charge of drunkenness. Farris was slightly wounded and will recover.

—The community was shocked by learning that at about 9 o'clock on Sunday morning Mr. Benjamin Leavell, a farmer who resides within some three miles of Lancaster, committed suicide in a fit of temporary insanity. He has been quite unwell for some months and was closely watched and kindly cared for by his family and friends. A short time after breakfast he went, in company with his son, a youth of about 15 years, to the residence of a Mr. Mosier, a blacksmith, who resides within about a mile of his residence, and told Mr. Mosier that he felt that if he had a squirrel or some game of some sort he would relish it and borrowing a shot gun that was loaded started towards the woods or fields. He had gone only a short distance when he discharged the contents of the gun into his head, killing him instantly. He was a good citizen and his death is a severe blow to his family, with whom the people universally sympathize.

—While getting out of a wagon with a gun, at Wilmore, Wat. R. Dunn slipped and the weapon was discharged, almost tearing his left arm off. He died in a few hours from the shock.

—The Knights of Labor have adopted resolutions looking to a settlement of their differences with the Federation of Labor. If this action be accepted by the Federation it will result in the practical union of over 600,000 laboring men.

—The Earl of Dudley holds the largest life insurance in the world, $3,000,000. Next comes Mr. Wanamaker, whose policies of $5,250,000 exceed that of the Czar of all the Russians by $250,000. Fourth comes the Prince of Wales, whose life is insured for $2,625,000.

—D. P. Arnold, of Frankfort, knocked the stuffing out of Bob Breckinridge, son of the congressman, after he found that nothing else would do him. The fight occurred at Lexington on the night of the governor's ball and two spade tails were rendered useless for future wear.

First Step in Love.—Cora—"Did you ever go to a fortune teller?" Merritt—"Yes, my dear. I went to Bradstreet's to find out about my father's fortune."—The Epoch.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

STANFORD, KY., NOVEMBER 17, 1891

W. P. WALTON.

In refusing to pardon or reprieve Jessie Brown, convicted and sentenced to death at Paducah, for murder, Governor Brown takes occasion to deliver a much-needed lecture to the juries which find a verdict and then sign a petition to him to reverse it, without giving any reason why it should be done. Says the governor and every law abiding man will applaud his words: "I have most carefully read the evidence in the record, and it appears that a most atrocious murder was committed. Upon such malefactors the law should be executed and if not they should be repealed. I owe an official duty to every hearthstone in this Commonwealth, having sworn that I would see that the laws should be faithfully executed. The sympathy of the jury can not control me. It is with them an afterthought and a shrinking from responsibility. After a most faithful consideration of the case, I decline to interfere with the judgment of the court. Human life has been too cheap in Kentucky."

SENATOR CALL, of Florida, seems to have a hard time making his calling and election sure. The governor claimed that he was not constitutionally elected by the legislature and appointed Mr. Davidson to the vacancy. The Secretary of State refused to attest the governor's signature to the appointment and now the supreme court of the State has issued a mandate to compel the Secretary to attest. Senator Call will, however, in all probability, be seated, as the Senate is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members and the usual "courtesy" will prevail.

THE Louisville Times is led to this timely remark and suggestion, neither of which should be allowed to be withdrawn: As they have made no progress, the statutes revisory committee wisely withheld from the public all report of progress. In the meantime, wouldn't it be a good idea to take the muzzle off the press and put it on their secretary? However, as that functionality has nothing to do but talk and draw his salary, we withdraw the suggestion instantane-

HE resounding kiss that the beautiful daughter of Treasurer Woodruff imprinted on the lips of one of her father's counsel, at the conclusion of his eloquent appeal before the court, was not entirely lost on the jury, which did the next best thing to an acquittal, failed to agree. Woodruff robbed the State of many thousands of dollars, but he is not likely to suffer for it as long as his daughter can be depended upon to do the right thing at the right time.

It is sent out from Washington that the president is seriously considering the hearty endorsement of Col. W. O. Bradley for the vacancy in the head of the war department. It would be a big stroke of policy for him to honor the Kentuckian who could bring him more votes than any man in the South, and at the same time it would be the just recognition of the labor in season and out of season of a man, who has never had a substantial reward.

A nest of quacks in Cincinnati has been discovered, who, for a consideration of $150 in hand paid, a diploma to practice medicine will be given and no questions asked. The concern goes by the name of the Medical University of Ohio and the scoundrels have grown rich at their nefarious business. Such a concern could flourish no where so well as in this so-called Paris of America.

THE "man who pays the freight" will never be governor of New York, it gives us pleasure to record. The world says: Gov. Hill has wisely determined to serve out his term as governor. New York can better get along with partial representation in the Senate for a few weeks—usually devoted mainly to organization—than with a crank in the executive office.

Two members of the Eversole faction sentenced to the penitentiary for life at Winchester last week, have made a full confession, in which the horrible murders of the gang are given in hideous detail. The story reads like a chapter from the dark ages, instead of a recent occurrence in a civilized land.

Gov. Bowes of Iowa, will recommend the repeal of the prohibition law by the next legislature, which is democratic in the Senate and republican in the House. The result is awaited with interest, since no matter which horn of the dilemma the republicans may take, they are likely to lose votes.

The president has at last issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, naming Nov. 26th as the day to give thanks and pray. It took the old man some time to make up his mind whether under the circumstances he was thankful even that he was alive.

The San Franciscans are in earnest about wanting the national conventions of the two parties. They guarantee to pay off the expenses of the delegates and have already raised $50,000 as a starter.

MR. T. H. MORRIS has bought a half interest in the Jessamine Journal and will run it with Harry McCarty. Col. McCarty will not be able to do newspaper work for a long time and he has relinquished his interest in the paper. If the two succeed in making the Journal as readable and as entertaining as did the colonel, they will be deserving of congratulation. They are both good newspaper men and will come as near doing it as the next pair.

MR. G. C. GIVENS has sold the Owensboro Inquirer to a stock company and retired from the paper, which he has very successfully conducted for several years. Mr. A. J. Casey, late of the Russellville Herald, will succeed him as editor.

At Bordentown, N. J., last Thursday, there was dedicated a granite monument which the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has erected to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the first operation of a steam railroad in the State. John Deppre, the engineer who ran the train, is now living at the age of 83. The engine is in the National Museum and is a great curiosity.

Fire broke out early Sunday night in the printing house of Short & Foreman, Cleveland, Ohio, and in less than an hour business property valued at a quarter of a million dollars was in ruins. Falling walls killed one fireman and dangerously injured two more.

The farmers' alliance re-elected T. T. Gardner president and fixed upon Owensboro as the next place of meeting. While it continues to carry the dead weight of the Ocalia demand for sub-treasuries and land loans, the Kentucky contingent has steered clear of the third-party rock and scattered the explosive contents of the organ topoado.

The anarchists of Chicago tried to hold a secret meeting near the scene of the Haymarket riot, but the police broke down the doors of the hall and entered in the midst of the incendiary eruptions. Most of the crowd were arrant cowards, but some pistols were drawn on the officers. Every man who had a weapon was arrested. Wild threats were made to repeat the Haymarket massacre, and one speaker, before the police arrived, wanted all the city officials murdered. This crowd ought to be cleaned out before the World's Fair.

Middlesboro people are high up again over their prospects. The official general meeting of the share-holders of the Middlesboro Town Co. was held Thursday when it was unanimously resolved to accept the terms of the sale embodied in a contract between the Middlesboro Town Company and the Middlesboro Town Lands Company. This contract provides all funds requisite for the commitment and necessities of the Middlesboro Town Company, which are to be taken over and payment on same guaranteed by the Middlesboro Town Lands Company. It also contemplates the continuance of the Middlesboro Town Company's plans for the commercial and industrial development of Middlesboro.

The Boston Globe, the leading democratic paper of New England, has come out for Gov. Russell for the democratic nomination for president in 1892. The governor will barely be eligible for the office by that time, as he is not 35 till in 1892.

Doe and Gale Gilliland, the last of the gang, have surrendered and given good bond for their appearance at the next Pulaski court. This makes 10 of the gang now bound over and it is thought that all trouble is now ended.

At Bordentown, N. J., last Thursday, there was dedicated a granite monument which the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has erected to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the first operation of a steam railroad in the State. John Deppre, the engineer who ran the train, is now living at the age of 83. The engine is in the National Museum and is a great curiosity.

A Sensation at Crab Orchard.

The sensation of the day in our town is the immense amount of goods that are being sold at Dan Slaughter's store, in the post-office building. The mercantile business had been very dull here during the entire fall, in fact our merchants had done no business to amount to anything until the opening of Slaughter's new store.

It is said that the high prices charged had driven the trade to other towns, but now all is changed.

Not only is Slaughter doing an immense business, but the other merchants are reaping the benefit of his enterprise in advertising and drawing the people into town. It is frequently the case that so many people crowd into his store at one time that it is impossible for his clerks to wait upon them and they are forced to go to some of the other stores to do their trading. Especially was this the case on last Saturday, when his store was jammed with customers during the entire day, and many were turned away without getting waited upon. Since bringing in his first stock, about three weeks ago, he has received several large wagon loads of new goods to fill up with, and will start to the cities in about ten days to lay in an immense stock of goods for the holiday trade.

When it is considered that he is actually selling goods at lower prices than they have ever been sold here, it should surprise no one at the large trade he is having, and should our merchants have used half the exertion and enterprise that he has done since he has been here, Crab Orchard would never have been called a dead town.

THERE has been another change in the dispatcher's office. Chief J. M. Scott has resigned and will return to the Louisville office, while Mr. W. F. THE eclipse of the moon could not have occurred at a better time nor on a finer night for observation, and our people watched the exhibition with great interest as it slowly went into the shadow and finally became entirely obscured.

Then from the reflected light of the earth the orb took on a reddish tint and hung like a ball of fire in the heavens till a faint light appeared on the east end. It grew and grew till a little past 8 o'clock the full face of the moon was again seen from an almost cloudless sky. The time of the various changes showed that our town clock was about as near right as it can be.

MEN OF CAPITAL.—Mr. J. Ottenheimer, land and emigration agent of the Canadian Pacific, with office at New York, arrived yesterday with a party of capitalists, who came to inspect the Swiss colonies at Bernstadt and Ottenheim and perhaps make some investments. They are Charles Im-Obersteg, founder of the Bernstadt colony and head of the emigration bureau and banking house of Zwischenhart & Co., Basel, Switzerland; John Friederich, editor and publisher of the American Swiss Gazette, New York, and John N. Spaus, of the firm of Zwischenhart & Martin Gasser & Co., New York, bankers and brokers. They will return here Wednesday and spend several days at Ottenheim and other parts of the country.

THE habeas corpus case of David Grant for the possession of his child, which he claimed that his wife, with the assistance of Robert Land, took from his sister's house by force, was tried before Judge Varnon Friday, when a very wretched state of affairs was developed. The man swore that owing to his wife's fondness for Mr. Land he drove her away about seven years ago. She made no effort to take the child and he has since cared for it. He further proved that the woman is not the proper person to raise children, as she is an adulteress, who twice since their parting has given birth to illegitimate children. On the other hand it was proved that Grant was a drunkard, a gambler and a keeper of a house of prostitution. After hearing the testimony, Judge Varnon said that while he thought that under the proof neither party was capable of raising a child, and neither should have it, he would take the least of two evils and give it to the mother. Mr. Land appeared with the woman and assisted her materially in making out her case.

JAILED SHUMATE shot and perhaps fatally wounded a negro prisoner, William Hansford, at Danville, when he seized and tried to hold him in jail. Hansford has done time in the penitentiary, where he deliberately permitted his hand to be cut off to keep from work.

THE work on this division of the L. & N. has grown so greatly that an assistant master of trains has been appointed. Capt. Dick Lawton, the popular passenger conductor, has been given the position and he will assist Capt. Frank Harris and spend his time mostly at Livingston and Corbin.

IN the classification of towns for a general charter, Stanford is placed by the authorities at Frankfort in the 5th class, stating that according to the census she has only 1,385 population. This is a mistake and a pretty good sized one. The number of citizens in the town limits is over 1,600 and in the suburbs and at Rowland nearly 3,000.

GREAT complaint is made about hogs running at large and foraging on others than their owners. There is a law against this evil, which the council ought to have enforced or repealed, but since one member has a dozen or more hogs at large, no action will likely be taken, until we give a few of the whys and wherefores of the situation.

THE building of the Baptist parsonage on the lot donated by J. M. Hail, on Lower Main, has been let to Jones and Blankenship, from the top of the foundation up, for $1,200. Mr. B. K. Wearne puts in the foundation for $225. The house is to be a copy of Mr. A. J. Earp's house, with the rooms a little larger, and is to be completed by Jan. 1st if possible.

ON the 13th of October we wrote to A. Burt, Esq., Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service at Cincinnati, that the INTERIOR JOURNALS of the previous Friday had not gotten to Hustonville the following Monday and asking him to see if the carelessness could not be remedied. The next day he began an investigation and the entire correspondence, covering many pages, together with the note we sent, was returned to us Friday. The process may interest our readers so we give a synopsis of it. He first asked Mrs. Courts when the papers left here. She answered, then he inquired of Capt. H. B. Jenkins, chief clerk, what clerk was on that morning and was told C. G. Kenzel. He was written to and responded that he put the sacks off at Junction City as usual. This took the blame from this route and finding that F. C. Durand was the clerk on the C. S. train, which should have taken the papers South, he was written to, but had no recollection of the receipt of the papers on the date named and did not remember to have carried any mail for Moreland, by that day. Mr. Burt next wrote to J. H. Minks, postmaster at Moreland, if he had any recollection of the package. His reply was that paper mail for Hustonville passed through in labeled sacks which are not opened by him. He could only state that no package laid over in his office.

Mrs. Adelia Woods, postmaster at Hustonville, was next communicated with. She remembered that the Friday papers did not reach there till Monday afternoon, but failed to notice the label of the sack. The superintendent suggested that hereafter Mrs. Woods retain the labels so that he can locate the party at fault to which she replied as follows, showing that she doesn't like for the INTERIOR JOURNALS to fail to come: "I will certainly in future retain the slips and send to you, in order that we may ascertain the cause of the carelessness and if possible correct it." This was the last letter except one from Mr. Burt to us enclosing the correspondence in which he says he was unable to locate the party at fault and adding: "Your attention is also invited to additional steps taken, which will assist us in obtaining the information last named in future cases. A rigid order has also been issued to clerks in Cincinnati and Chattanooga train No. 1 to put forth greater effort to get out this mail between Junction City and Moreland, a run of about five miles." There is a point here that Mr. Burt overlooks. Our papers leave here on night train No. 26 and when they are thrown off at Junction City Capt. Bell, the transfer agent, says the sack is put on a train going to Cincinnati, from which it is delivered to No. 1, so that the clerk can have all the time he wants for distribution. Our patrons may always rest assured that their papers leave here on time and that we use every effort to have them promptly delivered. If they are not the mail men must get the "cussing," not us.

ADJUSTED.—Mr. C. D. Thompson, adjuster for the London, Liverpool and Globe, was up yesterday and settled with Mrs. N. A. Tyree to her complete satisfaction, as he always does. None of her goods were burned, but Mr. T. said they were the worst broken up he ever saw. He was willing enough to pay the amount he allowed, $237.30, as he realized that nothing but the most heroic efforts saved her house from the fire.

A MAN about whom nothing could be learned, except that his name was probably Stephen DeLong, was around Moreland last week and giving unmistakable signs of insanity Squire Smiley took him in charge and sent for the Sheriff. Deputy S. W. Menefee responded and brought him here where he was tried Saturday. He could give no account of himself and whatever of his jargon could be recognized as language was pronounced French. He is supposed to have been a bear man and losing the animal upset his mind. The jury pronounced him insane and he was taken to Lexington Sunday by Deputy Menefee.

DIED FROM THE SHOCK.—Tuck Williams, a young negro man, had his right arm crushed and his right leg broken by being run over by train No. 24, Sunday. He was no doubt drunk, and lying down on the track near the Maywood section house he fell asleep. The passenger train was a few minutes late and Phil Soden, who was at the throttle, was letting it down the grade at over 40 miles an hour when it struck the man. At the point he lay on the curve the engineer could not have seen him in time to have stopped had he been running unusually slow. Williams was brought here and his arm amputated by Drs. J. F. Peyton and H. C. Nunnelly. He was conscious on his arrival and denied that he was drunk, but he was in the habit of drinking and his story is not believed. After the operation he seemed to rally satisfactorily, but later he began sinking and by 9 o'clock was dead.

STOCK FEEDING.

Summary of Fifteen Years' Research in Animal Nutrition.

In sections of the great west that are well developed, certain factors should be observed in the production of meat for both economy and for quality. I shall summarize the results of some fifteen years of continuous research in animal nutrition, and some twenty-five years of observation as a stock feeder, without marshaling the corroborating data, which are often voluminous, in support of the direct assertion made.

Only good animals that inherit good forms, or that have the largest ratio of choice parts to the whole carcass, should be bred, because such steers always sell at 25 per cent. or more higher than those steers that are of ordinary structure. The latter class of steers return less revenue for the food eaten without a single compensating advantage. It is a singular mind that follows the practice of feeding ill-made steers.

Mrs. Eliza F. Young, assistant superintendent of the public schools of Chicago, has been connected with schools for the last twenty-five years. She graduated from the Normal and began teaching a high class school before she was out of her teens.

Mrs. Keziah Needham, of Lewisham, England, was lately allowed relief by the municipal authorities of the town. She had been the mother of twenty children, and at one time seven of her sons were in one regiment and fought shoulder to shoulder in battle.

All the ladies of the Vanderbilt family are thrifty and businesslike. They inherit these traits, and they are bringing up their children to follow their example. They each keep a bank account, make all their own purchases and employ and discharge their own servants.

WHISPERS ABOUT WOMEN.

Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher's pet fad is the keeping of Java sparrows, canaries, goldfinches, cockatoos and love birds.

The Rev. Florence Kollock, of Illinois, has not been once absent from her pulpit on account of sickness during a pastorate of sixteen years.

The grave of David Livingstone's wife, in Africa, is an utter wilderness, matted with jungle grass and trodden by the beasts of the forest.

Major McKinley's invalid wife has a passion for needlework. Her fingers are rarely idle, and most of her work finds its way to fairies and charity bazaars.

Mrs. Annie Meyer, author of a recently published book on the work of women in the United States, is a beautiful young woman of twenty-four, with a fair face from which her dark brown hair is gracefully rolled back.

Mrs. Ella F. Young, assistant superintendent of the public schools of Chicago, has been connected with schools for the last twenty-five years. She graduated from the Normal and began teaching a high class school before she was out of her teens.

Mrs. Keziah Needham, of Lewisham, England, was lately allowed relief by the municipal authorities of the town. She had been the mother of twenty children, and at one time seven of her sons were in one regiment and fought shoulder to shoulder in battle.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

Oliver Doud Byron's wife is a sister of Ada Rehan.

Barnum's big circus will spend the next two years in Australia.

Lillian Russell's new opera, "La Cigale," is an immense success in New York.

Bill Nye practically rewrote his comedy, "The Cadi," during its New York engagement.

Marie Burroughs, leading woman in the company of E. S. Willard, the English actress now in America, is the wife of Louis Massen, of A. M. Palmer's stock company.

Olive May, who plays light comedy roles in Stuart Robson's company, rides a horse on the stage. After the curtain fell one night recently in Philadelphia, the animal threw her and nearly killed her.

Marguerite Merington, a teacher in the Normal college, of New York, wrote a play called "Letterblaire," which E. H. Sothern recently produced at a matinee. It was her first effort, but it was a success.

Billy Burke, the famous clown and low comedian, fell in love with the beautiful treasurer clerk whom he recently married while she was in a circus seat and he was performing in the ring in Washington.

Roland Reed has presented to the Actors' Fund of America a portrait of his father, John Roland Reed, who was connected with the Walnut Street theater, Philadelphia, in various capacities for more than sixty-eight years. He died a few months ago.

ODDS AND ENDS.

An English peer cannot resign his peerage.

Preston is supposed to be the most Roman Catholic town in England.

It takes sailing vessels 125 days to sail from Philadelphia to San Francisco.

Three hundred British steamers and sailing vessels are lost at sea every year. A column of masonry in Kansas marks the exact geographical center of the United States.

A dealer in artificial limbs says that an arm will last a lifetime if properly cared for, but that after five or six years a leg gives way to the weight and strain and has to be renewed.

The London Lancet denounces as erroneous the story that abundant hair is a sign of bodily or mental vigor in man. It is a well known fact that the Chinese are generally very bald, and still they are the most enduring of races.

An Englishman who has been traveling in Siberia says that the life of the Russian exiles there is not so hard as it has been depicted. They enjoy society, indulge in fancy dress balls and have a good time generally—but with limitations.

The Eiffel tower is evidently a financial success. Over £17,000 has been paid for admission to it by visitors since March 22 last, when this year's season commenced. During August, when Paris is always crowded with tourists, the receipts exceeded £4,000.

AROUND THE THRONES.

The German emperor, at his wife's request, has shaved off his beard.

The perfume used by the Prince of Wales and Lord Dudley is lavender. The latter uses sachets for his ties, handkerchiefs and silk socks.

The Duke of Portland has a necktie for every hour of the day, and he never wears his gloves twice. His hosier's bill is about $1,200 a year. The Duke of Fife spends about the same amount.

The ex-queen of Naples is an enthusiastic a horsewoman as is her sister, the Empress Elizabeth of Austria. Though extremely poor for a royal personage, she devotes all her spare money to her horses.

Prince Christian Victor, of Schleswig-Holstein, is gaining military experience and finding pretty bits of fighting as an attaché of the Black mountain expedition in India, where General Ellis and his army are engaged in bringing the hill tribes into subjugation.

Man a Sinner—Christ an Intercessor.

[For the Interior Journal.]
What is man, that God regards him
With compassion and with love?
Made a little lower than the angels,
In His heavenly courts above,
Or man's Son, that God doth visit him
In his pilgrimage below?
His days being full of sorrow,
Of trouble and of woe.

Man comes forth like a flower,
But is like the grass cut down;
By the hand of God's great power, death,
That he cannot beat the ground.
His fleeting life, like shadows,
Soon from earth will pass away;
When all his works will follow him,
To the final judgment day.

Man's good works with the evil
In God's balance will be laid,
In the scale of heavenly justice
By the "Judge of quick and dead."
Weighed in the balance and found wanting,
Will be written o'er his name,
"Till Christ, with loving intercession,
Pleads—"If ever I suffered shame."

Man's flesh is weak and sinful,
Father, do not hide Thy face,
For in My name he stands before Thee,
"A sinner, saved by grace."
We know his works are sinful,
And Thy scale against him is,
Yet, I see My blood to save him,
And I died that he might live."

"Before men he confessed Me,
And he trusts in Thy pure word;
Was covered o'er by sin's dark stain,
Is washed white in My blood;
For him I suffered pain and death,
The cross was crucified;
Men might have life eternal,
And he fully justified."

The Father's tender, forgiving heart
Is touched with true compassion;
At the pleadings of His loving Son,
At His earnest intercession.

The angels, round the throne of God,
Break forth in songs of praise,
To Father, Son and Holy Ghost,
Their glad, heavenly anthems raise.

Man walks o'er life's thorny way,
By temptation sorely pressed;
God's word has only schoolmaster,
To bring him home till Christ.

O' then honor Him, love Him, trust Him,
The Holy One, and good,

He who died to pay your debt of sin
And washed you in His blood.

Man must bow in love before His face
Or in shame before His throne;
Believe on Him with true repentance,
Or he cannot wear the crown.

Then dear Savior, keep us ever
In the "Straight and narrow way."
